Purpose

The purposes of the Academic Plan are to ensure that you begin the process of analyzing what your goals are for your undergraduate education; that you become familiar with degree requirements in the College of Arts and Sciences (ASC); that you begin cultivating challenge and rigor as habits; and that you consult with faculty members, departmental honors advisors, and ASC honors counselors on a regular basis.

The Academic Plan is not meant to be a definitive proposal. Instead, it should be viewed as a working document that will provide a guideline and starting point—one that is subject to change!—for your undergraduate career. The Academic Plan does not commit you to specific courses at this point and does not serve as a substitute for the Honors Contract.

The Academic Plan is also meant to help you begin to find ways to strengthen your education through the selection of honors courses and upper-division courses. You are encouraged to explore the online Course Catalog on the Buckeye Link web page and talk to faculty, academic advisors, and friends about interesting and challenging courses, group studies courses, research opportunities, independent studies, and workshops.

Acknowledgement

While similar in many ways to the official Honors Contract that will formalize your degree requirements for graduation with honors in the Arts and Sciences, the Academic Plan is not an Honors Contract. If you wish to graduate with honors in the Arts and Sciences, you will be required to submit the Honors Contract by the end of your second year of study.

- I understand that this Academic Plan is not the same thing as an Honors Contract.
- I understand that to become a candidate for graduation with honors in the Arts and Sciences, I will be required to submit the Honors Contract by the end of my second year of study.
